A Powerful Experience at the Crossroads of History

Step into an unforgettable experience at the Caen Memorial Museum, one of Europe's largest contemporary museums where history comes alive through a deeply human and immersive exploration of the 20th century and World War II. This essential visit offers a powerful understanding of D-Day and the global and regional context of the Second World War.

With its exceptional scenography, high-quality archival materials, and a clear chronological narrative, the museum guides visitors through a rich and thought-provoking journey. Each chapter—causes, conflicts, the Holocaust, the resistance, and the liberation—is presented with precision and depth.

Emotion and education go hand in hand: the museum invites reflection and remembrance, evoking powerful moments and a deep awareness of the past. Though emotionally intense, the experience is profoundly enriching for both teenagers and adults.

Enhance your visit with our LEGACY ROADS guided tours of the D-Day landing beaches. Led by passionate guides, these tours offer a vivid and personal experience that leaves a lasting impression.

A respectful and deeply human place of remembrance, the Caen Memorial Museum is a must-see destination on your Normandy itinerary.

*D-Day Landing Beach Tours by Coach
July 2025*

«An experience not to be missed. The scenography at the Caen Memorial is incredibly well thought out. With a rich display of original objects, vehicles and period posters. The information panels are clear and easy to follow.

In the afternoon, we joined a guided tour of the D-Day beaches (Pointe du Hoc, Omaha Beach, and the American Cemetery). The program was intense but perfectly well organized. Our guide was outstanding — knowledgeable, engaging, and thorough.

From start to finish, everything ran smoothly. No wasted time. Highly recommended — without hesitation.»

D-Day Landing Beach Tours by minivan

LEGACY ROADS is an invitation to walk, to feel, and to understand.

Every place holds a story, every landscape bears the memory of those who passed through. On the D-Day landing beaches, time has woven an invisible thread — one of men, their hopes, and their sacrifices.

But telling this story is not just about listing facts or names. It's about reconnecting with a shared memory, the breath of an epic that still echoes here, beneath our feet.

Guided by experts trained by our historians, the Caen Memorial invites you to walk in the footsteps of History — where it was written in sand, fear, and hope.

From one beach to another, from a cemetery to a village, visitors are invited to follow a common thread: one of remembrance, historical fidelity, and the depth of memory.
